

In Arch

Placing the lid on a long container, containing the signatures of 762,000 area residents, a Globe-Democrat and stories by Globe writers, among other items, are G. E. (Gus) Budde, left, public information officer for the National Park Service here; Ralph Aberle, center, Gateway Arch project manager, and William Metzela, white shirt, assistant project manager. The ceremony took place Wednesday just before the container was sealed inside the keystone section of the Arch.

—Globe-Democrat photo